Build a castle sculpture out of legos or glue/tape a castle together out of cardboard and other recycled materials.

Use your monster drawing to create a comic. A comic is like a story or a joke told with pictures. So write your short story/joke about your monster and draw a box for every new action that happens in your story with a picture & words inside that box.

Draw a picture of a castle. Think about how many windows and their shapes you would like to add (circles, rectangles, half ovals, etc). Think about what you want around your castle (rolling hills, trees, moats, alligators, drawbridges, etc). Using a variety of sizes and heights for the sections of the castle will make your drawing pop, as well as giving your roofs different shapes.

Play this roll the dice game. The first roll, draw whatever headpiece you land on, the second roll, draw whatever mask you land on etc..

Collect nature objects like leaves, sticks, grass, pinecones, shells, small rocks, etc.. and glue them on a piece of paper to make a nature collage.

Draw shadows outside when the sun is very low, early in the morning, or late in the afternoon near sunset (it doesn't work well with the sun above your head), bring objects outside, and place them in front of your paper so you can see their shadows. Then trace the shadows and add any extra details or color inside when you are done. *You can also use a flashlight in a dark room to create a shadow.

Trace your hand in a cool pose, and turn it into an animal drawing. Then color or paint your creation.
